

FIRST FIVE THINGS TO DO

A list of the first 5 things to do to get the wedding planning process started

INSIDER TIPS

Some of the most interesting "insider" tips for Bride

WEDDING SUCCESS

A few wedding tips to help with the planning process

THE WEDDING PLANNING GUIDE

"THE FIRST FIVE" ON YOUR To-Do List

1

Pop some champagne and celebrate. Wedding planning can get stressful- enjoy this special time while you can!

2

Make a guest list! This will completely determine the direction of your wedding planning.

3

Determine a firm budget. It's so easy to stray away if a firm budget isn't set from day 1!

4

Choose your venue! The venue is a "limited" vendor since there aren't as many and the dates will be harder to come by. Book this or your planner first.

5

Schedule a wedding dress shopping appointment! These take a long time to order and alter. Once you've chosen a venue and date, get on this!

SECRET TIPS TO wedding success

"Wedding planning can be stressful, but it doesn't have to be as hard as people make it out to be. Setting your boundaries early is the one of the biggest keys to success."

Wedding planning is known for being stressful - and to be honest, it is stressful. For most people, this will be the biggest event that they ever plan in their life. It is a day filled with emotion and lots of people who you love and care about. It makes sense that you would want this day to be perfect.

Here are a few key tips to help keep the stress level to a minimum.

1) Set Boundaries!

The thing that most clients complain about is unwanted input and comments from family and friends. They mean well, but sometimes it is best to have them keep these opinions to themselves. However, if you don't set these boundaries early, you can count on an overwhelming amount of comments about your decisions.

2) Choose a few things that are REALLY important to you.

Some things just simply don't have to be a priority. Choose which things mean the most to you and let your attention be focused on those items. Pass off other jobs to the groom, maid of honor, wedding planner, etc!